NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF MEDICINE AND SURGERY,
WASHINGTON, August 21, 1882.

Your attention is called to the appended prospectus of the Museum of Hygiene which has been organized under the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, and officially recognized by Congress in an act making appropriation for its support for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1883, of which the following is a copy:

AN ACT making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the government for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and eighty-three, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the following sums be, and the same are hereby, appropriated for the objects hereinafter expressed for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and eighty-three, namely:

For Naval Museum of Hygiene: For rent of quarters necessary for the preservation of objects already collected; transportation of contributions intended for exhibition; preparation of models and drawings to be used in the illustration of sanitary science and its progress, seven thousand five hundred dollars.

The necessity of a central institution of this sort has long been felt, and it is hoped that the present organization will supply this need. The plan briefly described comprehends a collection that shall be illustrative of the entire range of sanitary science, the establishment of a course of lectures by authoritative sanitarians from all sections of the country, and a library of sanitary science accessible, under proper restrictions and guarantees, to all who are engaged in the study of this branch of knowledge. This library already numbers many of the standard sanitary works in the English, French and German languages, and is constantly increasing. The following grouping of subjects and circulars will explain more minutely the scope of the enterprise:

PHILIP S. WALES,
Surgeon General, U. S. Navy.
